

Be prepared to stand your ground as well as being prepared to change your mind

Making your partner feel good by acknowledging their good points and ideas

Keeping on task

Listening and asking questions

Not being passive

Helping your partner if they are stuck but not telling them the answer

Being prepared to compromise, work in a different way, accept alternative ideas and methods

Don't laugh at a partner's ideas

Checking your partner understands

Amethyst Power Skills
"Learning effectively with a partner"

Clearly explaining your idea to your partner

Finding a partner sensibly when given a choice of partner

Eye contact / nodding head - to reassure partner that you are learning with them

Respecting your partners ideas and opinions

Not always working with the same person

Smiling and being positive about the partner you have been given

Allowing your partner time to think and speak, not dominating

Not talking to other people, don't ignore your partner

